Bay School for Retarded Children, Dorrie feels that this kind of work generally attracts the type of individual who's interested in service. "It helps very definitely in being a mother. You can't lose as far as your stewardess training is concerned. It helps you to have more patience and to better understand your neighbor," she said.

The Ingles have two sons, Stephen, 5, and Terry, 2½. Her hobbies are creative writing and handicrafts. She was Sen. Alben Barkley's stewardess of a three-week charter flight during the 1948 vice-presidential campaign.

Instigating the organization of the local Dodo chapter is June Anderson Kane, wife of Don Kane, zone manager of L.A. area New Departure Bearings. They live at 5014 Mindora Dr. Their children are Jeffrey, 6, and Bryan, 4. The original chapter of the Dodos was formed in L.A. in the '30s. "I married a passenger," says June, "but he was a pilot, too, just getting out of the Army Air Corps when we met."

June graduated from USC and taught second grade in Inglewood and Milwaukie before becoming a stewardess. She is a Tri-Delt alumnus, enjoys gardening and knitting. She thinks her experience is of great value. It helps in learning to meet people and has helped where her husband's work is concerned, in meeting and entertaining his clients.

PRECINCT INSPECTOR
June has been an inspector for Torrance City Precinct 53 at her home. She is active in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and unit residential chairman for the Torrance area for the Cancer Drive.

She remembers during the war when there were 20 pilots returning on her flight from ferrying planes. They were so tired, they were mischievous. "They hid my dinners, then challenged me to feed them," she recalls. "I put on my sternest school teacher manner and told them to get busy finding them again. Then I put them all to work, passing out the tray pillows, napkins, and distributing the trays."

The fellows were getting a big kick out of being told to "do this and that" by a "pint-size sergeant." They had to help clean up and put the trays away. The ring-leader said the trip was more fun than they'd ever had, that they were just tired. June informed him that the stewardess was tired, too!

She started flying during the war after her first husband, a pilot, was killed. "It was the best possible therapy. The boys coming back from overseas and the paraplegics were so cheerful. They took my mind off myself and my problems," she said, her brown eyes soft, remembering.

So, whether wearing wedding rings or flying wings, these "sky girls," as they were originally called, can be counted on for service and understanding in their community.

No. Torrance

Beginning with an inspirational by Mrs. Raymond Collins, the November meeting of the North Torrance High School was called to attention by Mrs. J. R. Sanders, president. Mrs. F. A. Atkins asked for and received gym clothes for two needy students. Mrs. C. L. Thompson read a letter from the North Torrance Civic Association, inviting all residents of North Torrance to their meetings at McMasters Park on the first Thursday of every month. An honorary life membership committee was chosen to aid Mrs. Richard McDonald in choosing members for the honor of becoming a life member. Mrs. Joe Bogardo announced that the concession stand at the football games had been a big success.

Mrs. Kenneth McVey introduced the Thanksgiving music program by the North High Mixed Chorus, headed by George A. Zavislan, with the theme taking us by "Dobbin" to Grandfather's house, every one joined to sing, "Bless This House." The rendition of "Dry Bones" appropriately ended the Thanksgiving feast of music.

A panel discussion was introduced, based on school services; particularly Physical education and Drivers education. John A. Lucas was moderator. Other members of the panel were Mrs. Barbara Campbell, Miss Yvonne Knight and Bob Walker, Harry L. Phillips and Mrs. Clifford Graybehl.

After several questions by the audience, which the panelist answered to everyone's satisfaction, the meeting adjourned to try out various driver, education equipment, and to examine some of the protective gear supplied athletics by the school. Refreshments, on a beautiful, fall table decorated by Mrs. William Sale, were served.

Casimir

The school library, owned and operated by the PTA, was featured at the Wednesday, Nov. 14 association meeting at Casimir Elementary School. National Book Week occurred during the month of November, making this an appropriate time to inform parents of the purposes and functions of the library.

Mrs. Rozum, sixth and seventh grade teacher, presented a teacher's views. She explained that there had been a definite need at Casimir School for a library since the public library is too distant for many of the children to visit and that District library books may not be taken from the school. She stated the library is solving a problem for both the teachers and students.

C. Sewell reported on the actual progress and operation of the library. He stated that the library is open every other week all day on Monday and Tuesday and on Wednesday morning. It is staffed at all times by two committee mothers and two student assistants.

During the business meeting the by-laws of the organization were changed as follows: "Wherever North Torrance Elementary PTA, Incorporated, appears in the by-laws, standing rules and incorporation papers, it shall be changed to Casimir Elementary PTA, Incorporated."

man, presented the speaker for the evening, Mrs. Dunlap, Torrance Unified School District, who spoke on speech therapy.

The next association meeting will be held at the school Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m. The theme will be "Keeping the True Spirit of Christmas Alive." The meeting will feature a Christmas program by the students.

HUNTING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Tatum have returned from a quail-hunting trip to Kelso Valley. They returned "quail-less," but with quantities of mistletoe, which is being shared with neighbors.

CHANUKAH PARTY TUESDAY EVENING

Sisterhood of the Gardena Valley Jewish Center will hold its annual Chanukah party on Tuesday evening, Dec. 11, at 8:30 p.m. at the Center building, 14725 S. Gramercy Pl., Gardena. Instead of the usual business meeting, a holiday program has been arranged, gifts will be exchanged and refreshments will be served.

A gala New Year's Eve party is being planned by the Center for Dec. 31. Reservations are now being taken, and all members and friends are invited to come. Further details about the affair will be released within the next week.
